

Jacki Marie's Art Bio

Jacki Marie, aka BrooklynGC has grown up within a multi-cultural home, she has questioned her right as a woman of colour because of the underlying battle of being mixed raced and queer. Her arts practice over the years has given her the ability to facilitate self-expression and allowed her to develop a sense of identity.

Her creative practice is a reflection of her life experience and societal perceptions. Her practice of graffiti, computer design and traditional visual arts has allowed her to expand into abstract and neo expressive arts to communicate the struggle of self and colonial prejudice on racial, queer and addiction issues on everyday life.
